SUPERCHARGER COOLANT TANK, (STOCK BATTERY BOX MOUNT)

These supercharger tanks are designed for ALL PURPOSE APPLICATIONS. The tank's cap is designed large for filling with ice and is not designed to release system pressure, only a vacuum release vent is present in the cap. For this reason an extra pressure relief is installed at the side of the tank to release in the event of any excessive system pressure. Like the pressure relief built into a standard coolant cap, this is an important part of the system and should not be plugged.

For an ideal fit, we recommend you use the Canton #84-235 Extra Capacity Battery Tray, it was designed to seamlessly fit with no cutting of factory components required.
